EVANSVILLE PASTOR HAS NARROW ESCAPE IN AN AUTO WRECK

Reverend Dell O. Grabbill and Party Turned Over in Three Mile Creek With Big Automobile.

Reverend D. O. Grabbill, his wife and three friends, from Johnstown had a narrow escape from serious injury at the Three Mile Creek this afternoon when the auto Mr. Grabbill was driving slid down the embankment and turned over in the water along side the road. The accident occurred just at the bridge and as Mr. Grabbill had turned out for a team which did not give him half the road. The big car slid down the bank and into the water. The car was going on low speed and as it struck the bottom of the ditch it tipped over on its side. All the occupants were soaked with the water but none seriously hurt although Mrs. Grabbill was slightly bruised. A telephone message to Sylva and Doyle brought the relief car and the Johnstown people were taken home while the wrecking crew pulled the auto out and Mr. and Mrs. Grabbill expected to return to Evansville by auto. The car was not damaged to any extent, but it is a wonder that the occupants escaped serious injury.

EDGERTON PARTIES IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Machine Driven by Herman Stark Struck Flock of Sheep Between Janesville and Edgerton.

Edgerton, Wis., Dec. 19.—The auto owned by C. L. Edgerton of this city and driven by Herman Stark, while returning from Janesville, Saturday night, struck a flock of sheep owned by Steve Madden that were being driven to his farm. The accident occurred on the Whitaker road about a mile and a half out of the city, and four or five sheep were killed and others badly hurt. The lamps on the auto were also badly smashed, and considerable trouble was encountered in getting the sheep from under the car. The auto was traveling at a fast rate on the very good stretch of road at that place and as soon as the sheep were noticed the engine was shut off and an attempt made to stop the car but it could not be done in time to avoid the accident which followed.

COL. W. B. BRITTON DIED EARLY TODAY

Veteran of the Civil War and Former Prominent Business Man Passes Away.

Col. W. B. Britton, veteran of the Civil war, and for many years a prominent merchant and citizen of this city, passed quietly away this morning about two o'clock at his home, 337 Washington street. Death came peacefully while he slept. It is thought, and was due to a complication of diseases resulting from the infirmities of his advanced age, being about eighty years. For the past five or six years Col. Britton has been almost helpless, but has been able to move about the home in a wheeled chair. Three weeks ago he was taken to his bed and never again arose.

Col. Britton was one of the best known ex-soldiers of the Civil war throughout the state. He won many honors for himself in the cause of the North and finished his army career as colonel of the Eighth Wisconsin regiment, the famous "Old Abe" regiment. His record in the fighting was one of which he was justly proud.

As a citizen in private life, Col. Britton was highly respected in this community. He was, for many years, in the furniture business with the late Penner Kimball under the firm name of Britton & Kimball, and later with Frank D. Kimball.

The shock of his death falls heavily upon his widow, who is in an enfeebled condition. Besides her, the deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. M. T. Lane of Evansville, Ill., one brother, Edward Britton of Tremont, Neb., Jersey, and two granddaughters. The daughter is expected to arrive in the city from Evansville this evening and arrangements for the funeral will not be made until her arrival.

John Madden.

After a brief illness with pneumonia, John Madden passed away at a quarter to twelve o'clock this morning at his home, 151 North Franklin street. He was taken sick last Tuesday with influenza, which later developed into pneumonia. His death comes as a sudden shock to his many friends in the city. Mr. Madden was fifty-one years of age and was born near Astoria. He had lived the greater share of his life here. He was well known to all classes in the city and had a host of friends and acquaintances. For nearly eight years he has served as janitor at the high school where his genial manner had endeared him to many. His presence there will be greatly missed. Besides the widow, three children: Edward, Elizabeth and Mabel Madden, all of this city; three sisters, Mrs. Charles Gray and Mrs. Mary Farrell of this city, Mrs. John Sampson of Chicago; and two brothers, Thomas and James Madden of Janesville, are left to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church. The deceased was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America.

David Conger.

Impressive funeral services for the late David Conger were held at half past two o'clock this afternoon from the late residence at 545 Terrace street. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. C. Hazen and a large circle of relatives and friends were present. Members of the G. A. R. attended the funeral in a body and the burial rites at the grave were in charge of that organization. The casket was covered with handsome floral tokens. Pallbearers were selected from the G. A. R. and were: George W. Winters, E. G. Harlow, C. H. Evans, M. C. Burnham, Mr. Winters, and B. H. Baldwin. The remains were laid in their last resting place in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. John Abendroth.

Funeral services for Mrs. John Abendroth occurred at two o'clock this afternoon from the home on Western avenue and at half past two o'clock from St. Paul's German Lutheran church. The Rev. C. J. Koerner conducted the services. Pallbearers were: Ferdinand Schumacher, Herman Schumacher, Norman Lomke, William Kuhlow, August Bergmann, and August Buege. Interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

George Gentz.

The funeral of George Gentz was held at two o'clock this afternoon from St. John's German Lutheran church. The Rev. B. W. Phelps officiated in the presence of a large family circle and many friends. Burial was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

BAUER WANTED TO FIGHT WHOLE TOWN

Started To Create Disgraceful Scene At Church Time And Someone Gave Him What Was Coming To Him.

Joe Bauer who is ordinarily an excellent citizen but who always gets into trouble when he commences with the flowing bowl, created a disturbance on West Milwaukee street just as people were coming from church yesterday noon. Peeling off his coat and vest and showing aside the friends who tried to get him off the thoroughfare, Bauer issued an open challenge to fight all comers and waded into the first pair that came his way. One of those proceeded to land a jolt which laid Bauer out cold. When he came to he crawled down to the Rock County Telephone Co.'s store-room in the Jackson block basement and slept there the balance of the day. The police searched high and low and could not find him but this morning Officer Patrick Manning located him on the roof of one of the buildings back of the Hotel Myers and brought him to the city hall. Bauer pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and arranged to pay a fine and costs totalling $12.50. About three years ago Bauer, and two companions named Miller and Drafohl held up a trio of Beloit men near the North River street viaduct. Bauer served part of a term in the reformatory and was paroled to District Attorney Maher. It is said that one of the victims who was hit on the head that night ran all the way to Beloit and has been a raving maniac, confined to an asylum, ever since.

Charles Kingsley and William Crumbaugh, while intoxicated, got into a fight on Holmes street. Crumbaugh paid a fine and costs amounting to $4.10. Kingsley was unable to meet the assessment and went to jail for 10 days. Eli Reynolds who served in the penitentiary for robbing a saloon at Edgerton some years ago, could not pay a fine and costs amounting to $1 for drunkenness and went to jail for 7 days. Doctor Nichols paid $4.10. John Allen was given a fine of $1 and costs for not producing a license and went to jail for 7 days. Ernest Nash got 5 days in lieu of a fine and costs amounting to $3. Frank Grogan could not pay $6 and went to the bastille for 10 days.

COMMERCIAL MEN AT FESTAL BOARD

Members of Local Council U. C. T. and Families Enjoyed Supper and Entertainment Saturday Evening.

Members of Janesville Council No. 108, United Commercial Travellers, their wives and families, enjoyed a banquet and social session in East Side Odd Fellows' hall on Saturday evening. A delicious chicken pie supper was served at 6:15 to about forty-five people. A short social session followed. The entertainment began shortly after eight o'clock with a reading by Mrs. Charles Hanson of this city. Selections from "Polly of the Circus" were given, outlining the tale as told in the book and featuring the important parts of the story. Mrs. Hanson is a talented reader and the dramatic elements of the story were brought out in a clever and capable manner. Mrs. Hanson is this year under the management of the Crescent Lyceum Bureau of Omaha, Neb., in a tour of the western states. Four little misses, Virginia Doschadis, Ruth Granger, Evelyn Welch and Lucy Swift, delighted their hearers with a song, "Silver Moon." Mrs. Doschadis furnished the piano accompaniment for the singing. The second part of the evening was given over to cards and social enjoyment.

The affair was an annual gathering and a sort of good fellowship meeting to welcome in members who have recently joined the order.

TORTURED OVER FIRE

Unknown Man Horribly Mal-treated by Thugs.

Staggered Into a New Jersey Saloon Absolutely Naked and Delirious from Terrible Pain.

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 10.—A man whose identity the police have been unable to discover is lying unconscious in the hospital at North Hudson, N. J. His body from his ankles to his neck is a mass of burns, while his face and feet are frost-bitten by exposure to extreme cold. Absolutely naked and in delirious from pain, the man rushed into a saloon near the hospital and dropped unconscious before the bar. He cannot recover.

The police believe he was held up by yeggmen, who stripped him and tortured him over a bottle in an effort to obtain plunder. His frozen face and hands are probably the result of exposure to the storm after having escaped from his captors. The surrounding country is being scoured for some trace of his assailants.

PRAYER ANSWERED TOO LATE

Convict Does Not Reach Home in Time to See Sister Alive.

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 10.—The prayer of a girl and a petition sent by citizens prevailed on Gov. Logan was released on a ten-day parole, but did not reach this city in time to see his sister alive.

She died two years ago, leaving no children.

In August, 1909, Judge Burgess went to Los Angeles to attend the Elks carnival. He visited a book store and there met Miss Denger, grown to middle age, whom he had loved when a youth in Kentucky. Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 10.—A bandit armed with two revolvers held up the station of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railway here, taking all the contents of the cash drawer, somewhere in the neighborhood of $100.

Edward L. Volgel, the station agent, had been called out with a decoy telephone message and the robber found the office in charge of his sister. He thrust a revolver into the face of the young woman, who fainted.

JOY RIDERS.
Here's what they do to joy riders in Minnesota, according to Popular Mechanics:

"In St. Paul they do things different. It may also be stated they do one thing right. In that city joy riding is mentioned in a hushed and solemn tone of voice. That is because joy riding is dead in St. Paul. It no longer is. Time was when the St. Paul joy rider shot through the streets and up St. Anthony hill with the gay abandon of a Laramie cowboy. He now travels in a manner as dignified and moderate as the Father of Waters at the foot of Jackson street. He is subdued, tamed, to all appearances harmless.

"How was the miracle performed? Other joy-riders cities would faint know.

"Will the cure that cured in St. Paul cure elsewhere?"

"It will. We own guarantee a cure.

"What then in this wonderful panacea?"

"Brooms. The making of brooms. And then more. Just brooms, the ordinary kitchen variety. The joy rider when taken in his riding is sent to the broom maker. There is no need of any trial. The broom maker, that, for the price of liberty is the making of a certain number of brooms. There is no alternative penalty; neither is there any fine which only the wealthy can afford. Outraged justice demands brooms, and a certain number of brooms at that. By a strange irony of fate the first candidate for broom-making was a banker. He offered bonds, and a bullion, back-sheesh and bargains in loans. Nothing doing. His quota of broom handles looked like a carload of telephone poles, and his allowance of straws like the sands of the sea in number, but there was only one way out.

"If other cities really want to be cured, let them attend on the story of the St. Paul broom."

A TUSKEGEE GRADUATION.
Booker T. Washington, recognized as one of the great educators of the country, is intensely practical, and the work he is doing for the colored people of the South is bearing abundant fruit.

The colored race has made wonderful strides, since the day of emancipation, and today nearly half the population are able to read and write. Booker T. Washington has been a prominent factor in this advance movement and the pupils graduated from his school are not only intelligent, but self-supporting as well, as all of them are experts in some useful occupation. Mr. Washington said in a recent interview:

"Ordinarily, at the closing exercises of a high school, graduates are expected to stand up on a platform and, out of all their inexperience, instruct their elders how to succeed in life. We were fortunate at Tuskegee, in the thirty-seven industries carried on there, and in the thousand acres of land that are cultivated, to be able to give our students, in addition to their general education, a pretty good knowledge of some one of the familiar trades or vocations. They have, therefore, something to talk about in their essays in which all of the audience are interested and with which they are all more or less familiar.

"Instead of having a boy or girl read a paper on some subject like 'Beyond the Alps lies Italy,' we have them explain and demonstrate to the audience how to build a roof, or the proper way to make cheese, or how to hatch chickens with an incubator. Perhaps one of the graduates in the nurses' training school will show how to lend first aid to the injured. If a girl is taking the course in dairying, she will not only describe what she has learned, but will go through, on the platform, the various methods of operating a modern dairy. Instead of letting a boy tell why one ought to do right, we ask him to tell what he has learned about the feeding of pigs, about their diseases, and the care of them when they are sick."

This is the sort of training which should be more generally adopted in the public schools, for the average white boy, like his colored brother, goes out into the industrial world to seek fortune and work out a destiny. Booker T. Washington has set a pace for educators in practical education, which could be followed to advantage.

The best time to shop this week is in the morning. The Christmas spirit is in the air and finds liberal expression. Shop early in the day and avoid the rush.

The June element is again disappointed for the war scare is over, and the cloud no bigger than a man's hand, was simply the fog of a distorted brain. Japan has troubles of her own, and America is quite busy these days.

With an income of $25,000,000 a year, Mr. Carnegie can afford to be quite liberal at Christmas time.

The many friends of Colonel Nicholas Smith will regret to learn of the accident which befell him last night, and which is liable to confine him to the hospital for some time.

The express companies are to be investigated next, and the public generally will be interested in the outcome. The impression prevails that many rates are unreasonably high.

The man who ably edits the Bonanza Magazine is running a department that makes his rivals green. His little "Chats With Readers," in confidential style, would make a graven image kick up its heels and smile. He says: "This publication is simply out of sight; our stories are the digested that no one can write. Our pictures take the cookie, the sandwich and the bun, our poetry's the blindest that ever bards have spun. We're planning corking features, too, to make our rivals gray; we've spent five million dollars to plant the Milky Way; we've sent our Mr. Baker to sea in a balloon; we've sent our Mr. Baker to travel round the moon; our gifted Mr. Baker, with pen and monkey-wrench, is digging up the muck heaps and raising quite a stench; and we have Glimpse Stories in bundles and in sheaves, to prove that all our statements are common-sense chicken thieves. It never was our custom our Vital Plans to flout, but we are spending millions to get the stuff you want; we're raking in the gutters, we're pawing in the slink, we're burning up our money for legs of scarlet ink. We'll bust our last suspender in earnest, fervid haste to entertain the people and elevate their taste."

Appreciation.
"They say Butterworth is going to erect a monument over the grave of his wife's first husband."

"An ordinary man would regard that as a waste of money, wouldn't he?"

"Perhaps, but you see he left enough life insurance to make it possible for Butterworth to get along without working for the rest of his life, and I suppose he feels that he ought in some way to publicly show his appreciation."

AMERICAN EX-PATRIOT IN PARLIAMENT.

Waldorf Astor, son of William Waldorf Astor, formerly an American, will be one of the new members of parliament. He and his colleague, A. Shirley Bonn, ousted the two sitting Liberals. Astor was chosen as the Progressive Unionist candidate in Plymouth in 1908, but was beaten in his first attempt to win the seat in January, 1910.

Price of Ivory Increasing.
Ivory continues to make rapid gains in cost and may sooner or later be in a class with gold. At the sales in Europe the tremendous demand pushes up the price. The allotment for each sale seems to be the same, and with a gaining consumption it is logical to expect a price advance.

This will continue until a substitute ivory is discovered or ivory is secured in greater quantities. Although we buy a great many tusks for piano keys and use the very latest method of cutting and bleaching, the margin of profit in finished key ivory is exceedingly small. With the best of skill in blocking the waste is enormous and there are many other details in connection with key ivory manufacture that require time and money.

Her Weight Cost $43.
In some parts of Hungary it is the custom for the bridegroom to pay a sum to the bride's parents, and in case the parties cannot agree the mayor acts as arbitrator. Mayor Volkei, who is a cattle dealer, has had to decide a case of this kind, and after inspecting the bride decided that the bridegroom must pay the parents at the rate of half a dollar for each pound that the bride weighed. This verdict was accepted, and the woman weighing 86 pounds the bridegroom handed over the equivalent of $43, after which the wedding ceremony was performed.

Oh, Busy Man, Think This Over

One of the happiest women in Rock Co. called yesterday to order a new set of teeth.

Happy because at last her husband had said, "You may go up to Dr. Richards and have some new teeth for a Christmas present from me."

She will look ten years younger and live ten years longer as a result of his gift.

Wives, just show this to your husband and see what he will say.

Dainty Laces

Carefully Cleaned

Ordinarily, people fear to send their soiled laces to cleaners. So rare and beautiful laces remain unused and unloved. One can hardly blame them for not wanting to send them to some cleaners.

We base these facts on what our customers have told us. So we set to work to perfect a method to skillfully clean lace. And we succeeded. We ask you to find out for yourself by giving us a trial order.

TWO STRUCK BY A LOCOMOTIVE

NEAR ST. PAUL'S INSTITUTE SPUR
LAST EVENING.

ROSE LECK WAS KILLED

And Roy Tunison of Rockford Had
curred at 7:30.

Rose Leck, a young woman about 24 years of age who resided with her mother and step-father on Eastern avenue, was instantly killed and Roy Tunison of Rockford had a leg broken just above the ankle and his head and one elbow injured in a terrible accident which occurred on the Janesville & Northwestern branch of the C. M. & St. P. road, about three car lengths east of the spur used for setting in cars to the Blind Institute and not far from the intersection of Eastern and Center avenues, at 7:35 last evening.

A caboose "hop," consisting of only a locomotive and caboose, and bringing back from the Roundout turn-around the crew that had gone out with train 182, at noon, was coming in from the southeast. Tunison, who is both deaf and dumb, and the unfortunate young woman who was left partially dumb after an attack of mumps in her childhood, were standing on the track and in the light of what is now known were probably engaged in a conversation in the sign language. They were so close together that Engineer William Cundy took them for a pair of lovers clasped in one another's arms. He whistled and rang the bell, taking it for granted that they would get clear of the track. When, still oblivious to their surroundings, they still stood their ground, he applied the air and emergency brakes.

It was too late. The pair saw what was going to happen and started to jump from the roadbed just a half instant before the locomotive struck them. Rose Leck was hurled headlong down a twenty foot embankment on the north side of the track a distance of perhaps fifty or more feet. The body, with skull fractured and limbs broken, was lying within half a foot of a large pond when the locomotive stopped within ten car lengths and Conductor A. F. Edmunds, the engineer, and others of the train crew ran down to investigate. Death had apparently been instantaneous. Tunison was lying within a foot or two of the river bank on the south side of the rails and was making ineffectual sounds when the men reached him. A brakeman who left in charge of the dead body of the girl and Tunison was hurried to the city. Conductor Edmunds telephoned for the ambulance and Drs. Pomeroy and Nuzum were summoned to attend the man at the hospital. He was able to write full particulars concerning himself this morning and will recover.

Tunison is also about twenty-four years of age and had been coming to Janesville at frequent intervals to see the young woman. He has been living with a sister at Rockford.

Talk of Commander of Battleship Minnesota at Guildhall in London. Created Unfavorable Impression in the Report.

Washington, Dec. 19.—It will probably be several weeks before Commander William S. Sims, commanding officer of the battleship Minnesota, will send an explanation of his speech at Guildhall, London, on Dec. 3, when the officers and men of the fleet were entertained by the Lord Mayor of London and city of London. Secretary of the Navy Meyer has asked Commander Sims if he made the statement that Great Britain would probably receive assistance from the United States in the event of a foreign war, as he was quoted in press dispatches from London. Commander Sims' explanation is awaited in naval circles with considerable interest because of the fact that he is well known in Washington. He was naval aide to President Roosevelt during the last administration. He was identified with the coterie of naval officers who became prominent through their criticisms of the alleged structural defects of battleships. This is the sentiment which it is said has caused Secretary Meyer to ask for an explanation.

"I am sure that if the time should ever come when the British empire was seriously menaced by an external enemy, its people might count upon every man, every dollar, every ship and every drop of blood of their kindred across the ocean."

This statement was cabled to German newspapers, where it is said to have created an unfavorable impression. The Germans have been speculating as to the probable reason why the vessels of the fleet were not sent to German ports. Prominent German newspapers have criticized the United States government for failing to include a German port in the itinerary of the battleship fleet on its present cruise. Some officers of the navy department regard Commander Sims' statement, if he was correctly quoted, as somewhat indiscreet. No action will be taken, however, until Commander Sims has had a full opportunity to explain his side of the case. While it is a serious breach of naval etiquette for a naval officer to discuss diplomatic affairs with too great freedom, such instances, except in unusually flagrant cases, are usually disposed of by reprimand or warning.

Forty-four local unions in Iowa gave White 4,825 votes to 1,231 for Lewis. Twenty-five locals in Indiana gave Lewis 520 votes and White 1,825. Fifty-four locals in Kansas cast a vote of 4,445 for White and 1,381 for Lewis.

GRATIFIES THE DESIRE TO TRAVEL.

The person with an ambition to take a $10,000 world tour need not be disappointed if only half a dollar or less is available to gratify the desire. For it is welcome news that Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival is booked for the Myers Theater for two engagements this season as usual. Of course it is needless to say that the program on each occasion will be entirely new. Mr. Howe can be depended on to present in one evening enough of foreign lands with their unfamiliar customs and scenery to compensate the many untraveled longings to see the world. On his first engagement on Tuesday, December 27 he will exhibit what he guarantees to be the most wonderful reproduction he has ever exhibited. It shows all the regal splendor of King Edward's funeral not only thru London's streets but also the impressive scenes at Windsor. It is notable for the close facial portraits of the world rulers in attendance, and of our special ambassador, Col. Roosevelt. A ride up the Eiffel Tower, Paris; the snow-bound Alps; how Japan celebrates the famous floods of Norway; the coronation of King George; life on a training ship; a modern miracle in railroad construction—the Grand Trunk Pacific; and fearless Italian artillery maneuvers are only a few of the big features on the first itinerary for Howe's local tourists.

MISSOURI RIVER RATE CASE UP

Reparation Claims Aggregating $100,000 Already Filed Under Commerce Commission's Decision.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 19.—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Edgar E. Clark arrived in Chicago today to conduct a hearing in the so-called Burnham-Mann-Munger case. This is also known as the Missouri River rate case, and after it has begun the Interstate Commerce Commission, in accordance with evidence that had been introduced, reduced freight rates from the Atlantic seaboard to the Missouri River. Litigation ensued, and the reduction in rates was suspended until Nov. 10 last.

Reparation claims aggregating more than $100,000 already have been filed with the commission under its decision reducing rates. A typical case is that of the William Warwood Company of Sioux City, Ia., against the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company. Reparation is demanded on all shipments of chess freights from the East to Sioux City during the period of the commission's original order. The reduction, which was sustained by the United States Supreme Court amounted to nine cents a hundred pounds on first-class freight, the reduction on chesses being from a sixty-cent scale to a fifty-one cent scale.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has received to date nearly 800 claims in reparation. About 450 of them apply to shipments originating in Atlantic seaboard and Eastern trunk line territories, about 200 to shipments originating at various points east of the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio, and the remainder are on shipments originating in the Central Freight Association and Southern territory. In addition to the claims already on file, other claims will be presented and the likelihood is that eventually the aggregate will be in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million of dollars. Final disposition of these claims probably will hinge upon the result of the Burnham-Mann-Munger case, which is to be heard this week by Commissioner Clark.

His Views of Her Soup.

A West Philadelphia woman heard a knock at her door early today and on opening the door she found a dusty and unkempt tramp on the doorstep. "Will you please give me something to eat?" asked the member of the army of the unemployed. The woman, who is kind-hearted, consented, and a moment later passed out a bowl of soup. The tramp commenced to eat ravenously and, when the woman stepped to the door a few moments later the soup was gone. "How was it?" she said, bending on him in the attitude of one who is conscious of having done a good deed, and who furthermore expects to be praised for said good deed. "It was all right, what there was of it," said the knight of the road. "And wasn't there enough of it?" inquired the woman in an anxious voice.

"O, yes," said his trampship, "there was enough of it, such as it was."—Philadelphia Times.

HER PROOF OF IDENTITY

Cashier of Telegraph Company Thinks It Sufficient and Pays the Money.

Many are the stories told regarding ladies who visit banks, telegraph offices and similar places and are asked to conform to certain prescribed business usages, such as properly indorsing a check or presenting proof of identity. One of the latest is told by the Cleveland Leader in Town Talk. "Several days ago a handsome woman, handsomely dressed and accompanied by two small boys, called at the Western Union office to cash a telegraph money order she had received from her husband, who was in Chicago on business. Cashier John H. Cox asked the woman all the usual questions about identification, but with no satisfactory results. Absolutely she had no documentary proof of her identity. As a last resort, Mr. Cox said: 'Now, madam, I would like very much to give you the money this order calls for. Can't you prove to me some way that you are Mrs. Blank?' Hesitating a moment, the woman exclaimed: 'Why, yes, of course I can. How stupid of me not to think of it before!' Then, pointing to the two boys, said: 'These, sir, are my sons.' She got the money."

HOW COCOANUTS ARE USED

Immense Value of the Trees and How the Crop is Garnered.

A coconut tree in the islands of Trinidad and Tobago begins to produce nuts in four or five years after planting, and reaches maturity in twelve or fourteen years. The average life of a healthy tree is fifty years, often very much longer. The production of nuts does not average more than one hundred a mature tree. At present coconuts for export are involved at from $12 to $22, a probable average of $16 a thousand, copra at 4 to 5 cents a pound, and the oil at 30 cents a gallon. The nuts are mostly shipped to Philadelphia and New York, the copra to Europe and the oil to the other West India islands.

Coconut trees are planted about 150 to the acre, and fifteen to eighteen feet apart. Unskilled labor, coolie labor chiefly, is paid 30 to 50 cents a day, while the pickers get 30 cents a thousand, and a higher wage if the trees are very tall. In some sections the trees are being affected with bud rot, but every effort known to science is being used to limit the spread of the disease. It is not, however, generally prevalent, but works most injury in sections where there is too much moisture. Insect pests have also to be contended with, but these thus far have not caused much alarm among the producers. The natural annual death rate of the trees, as stated by a leading horticulturist, does not exceed five a thousand, and 5 to 10 per cent in sections of plantations where the bud rot prevails.

The coconut industry is considered very profitable, and is rapidly growing here. The largest producer grows 5,000,000 nuts a year, another 3,000,000, while the remainder are mostly small producers.

The shells are looked upon as waste, except as they rot and become fertilizer, or when used on the large estates for road making. An effort was made a few years ago to utilize the fiber as a marketable product, but the effort proved unsuccessful, probably because it was not carried out on the right lines.

Christmas on A Canalboat

"How are we going to spend Christmas?" exclaimed the good natured Mrs. Captain Hogges, seemingly a bit surprised at the question, for canalboat folk are sensitive of any criticism aimed in their direction.

"Why, we're going to spend the day just like other folk. Some think because we live on canalboats we don't have any comforts and eat like swines. My, but I'd a heap sight rather live down here than in a flat like my niece's. She's got six rooms, and they don't begin to be as big as mine.

"If you think there ain't room just look here," and Mrs. Hogges displayed the secrets of a suit of rooms, the luxury of the arrangement rivaling the den of the New York bachelor girl. Out of the main cabin, which served as living and dining room combined, two alcoves jutted, besides an infinitesimal corner, dubbed the kitchen, but which was even tiner than the modern apartment house kitchenette.

While under ordinary circumstances the kitchen was part of the cabin proper, two doors at right angles to each other could be drawn out, which, meeting, formed a room by itself. A shiny coal stove or range quite filled the compartment, leaving just room before it in which to work, while above it every inch of wall space was utilized with pots and bottles and kitchen utensils of every sort.

A low cupboard opening into the hold contained more articles of kitchen use, as well as vegetables and canned goods. Bunks were displayed in the two other alcoves, which were in open view of the cabin. But from the recesses of the boat Mrs. Hogges pulled out a sliding door, which completely divided the space into two rooms, and when curtains were drawn into the cabin the occupants enjoyed all the privacy desired.

A big divan could be opened up at night into a roomy double bed, and another bunk, "just under the eaves," was sufficiently large to tuck two small youngsters away. Chests of drawers built in, wardrobes and cupboards in all of the way places supplied room for bedding, clothing and the boots and shoes of a family of children.

One of the biggest surprises in the boat, one which conveyed a hint that might be applied in small houses where room is at a premium, was the preserved fruit lockers.

"We all do up our own fruit," went on Mrs. Hogges. "You see, while we go up the canal we are in the country most of the time, and it is much cheaper to put up our own fruit than buy it in winter, and this is where we store it."

"I'd a heap sight rather live down here."

Going to the stairs up the companionway, she pulled out tiny drawers. Small knobs jutted out from the face of each step with which to open the drawers, while within there was quite room enough to allow pint fruit jars to stand upright.

A cold storage room was tucked away in the hold, into which a small door about two feet in height opened. The dining table was a folding affair which turned up against the wall of the cabin when not in use.

When some surprise was expressed at the presence of a sewing machine in the room, Mrs. Hogges said: "Oh, that's nothing! Many of the boats have organs as well, and there is one fitted up with a porcelain bathtub. So, you see, we have some of the luxuries of city houses and plenty of good air and sunshine. A concert is to be given on one of the boats here New Year's eve, and if you should like to come down, we'd be glad to have you and show you a bit of canalboat hospitality."

Throws Light on Champagne-Making.

A recent report from the United States consul at Collingwood, Ont., throws some light on the making of "champagne" in some parts of France. The consul says: "A firm from Rochester, N. Y., has an apple evaporating establishment at Collingwood and another at Greenore. They bought 10,000 barrels at $1 a barrel delivered at the factory. The whole output of evaporated apples has been sold by this firm at eight cents a pound, and will be shipped to the Northwest. The waste, such as the core and parings, is fed, barreled and shipped to France, where it is used for making 'champagne'."

What She Needed.

Just at the busy hour in the evening on the "L," a woman rushed madly into the station. She had just a minute to buy a copy of Life and catch her train.

There was another customer at the news stand when she got there, and, getting impatient, she waved her ten-cent piece in the air and said to the clerk in a frenzied tone: "Give me Life, quick! Give me Life," then she glanced in her trunk when the clerk continued to wait on the first customer.

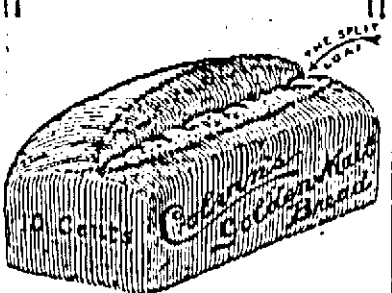

"Quick, I want Life," she repeated forcibly.
"You don't need Life, madam; what you need is air," placidly replied the news agent.

ISLANDERS INTO OCEAN; 170 DEAD

Costa Rica Disaster Happens With Frightful Suddenness.

ALL INHABITANTS ARE DROWNED

Earthquake Shocks Start Early in Evening and Entire Island Sinks Into Ocean With Awful Toll of Death.

Port Limon, Costa Rica, Dec. 19.—At least seventy families, variously estimated at from 150 to 170 men, women and children, were drowned following the sinking of their island home Saturday. The island, in the center of the Ipanago Lagoon, off Salvador, disappeared and slid into the depths of the lagoon, carrying with it nearly all of the inhabitants.

The sinking of the island is said to have followed a series of earthquakes which were felt throughout the republic. The shocks began early in the evening and grew in frequency and violence as night progressed, until about midnight, when the watchers on shore heard the sounds of guns from the people on the island. Shortly after that a huge bonfire was lighted on the island and at about 1 o'clock, a boat load of frightened women and children reached the mainland. The survivors stated that other boats were coming as fast as they could be filled, as the island was slowly sinking under the feet of the inhabitants.

The boat men of the mainland were appealed to send aid, but in view of the continued shocks and the steadily increasing violence of the sea in the lagoon, the boatmen were afraid to venture out. In fact, there was no time. While they debated another and more violent tremor shook the mainland and the fire and other lights on the island vanished. In the morning not a vestige of the island remained. In all it is estimated that about 170 perished in the catastrophe. This is not the first time that small islands off the mainland have sunk after earthquakes shocks in this locality.

The Ipanago lagoon is a lake of Salvador, southeast of the City of San Salvador. It is about five and a half miles in length. A minor volcanic cone rose from its waters in January, 1880. The lagoon is about twenty-five miles from the Pacific coast in mountainous country.

Senor Don Anibal Cruz Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Secretary Knox Will Request a Warship to Convey Remains of the Deceased Minister to Chile.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Senor Don Anibal Cruz, minister from Chile to the United States, died suddenly at the Chilean legation. Death was due to heart disease. The news of Senor Cruz's death spread quickly about Washington and came as a shock to many. For Saturday night he was a prominent figure at the banquet of the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes. It is probably that Mr. Knox will request the use of a war vessel to convey the body of Senor Cruz to Chile.

SUFFERING IN INTENSE COLD

Authorities in New York Unable to Shelter All the Destitute.

New York, Dec. 19.—New York is still in the grip of the first cold wave of the winter. Four deaths have been reported and it is almost impossible to estimate the suffering brought to the starving and homeless by the sudden drop in temperature. One man to get food and shelter even in prison deliberately threw a stone through a plate-glass window that he might be arrested and locked up.

The municipal lodging house, which holds 750 persons, is full and the authorities fear they will be unable to meet half the requests for shelter.

TWENTY COUPLES WED

Forty Israelites Married at Colony in Benton Harbor.

Members of Religious Sect Are Said to Have Threatened to Leave Colony If Not Permitted to Wed.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Dec. 19.—Ignoring an edict that neither recognized love nor marriage, forty members of the Israelite sect, located here, twenty couples were married at colony headquarters.

According to Justice Arn Weldon, the prospective brides and bridegrooms lined up around an improvised altar, the brides wearing flowing gowns of white silk and satin and the bridegrooms with flowing hair and unshaven beards, wearing their hats in the Israelite custom. Each man stood behind the woman of his choice. The guests were the remaining members of the colony. The colony orchestra played and the justice went down the line, uniting one couple after another.

The leaders explain the marriages as a "wedding jubilee" in celebration of the fiftieth year of the sect's existence. Another explanation has it that the twenty couples became betrothed and rebelled against the law which forbade marriage and even threatened to desert the colony if they were not allowed to wed.

GREEK OFFICER PUT IN IRONS

New York, Dec. 19.—An officer of the Greek army, who has been in irons on the voyage over, is under double guard aboard the Greek line steamship Themistocles, which has arrived at her Brooklyn pier from Piraeus.

While the liner was at sea, the captain, Spiridon J. Paramythioti, received a wireless message from the Greek government, instructing him to hold the officer aboard, and take him back to Greece, where he is wanted in connection with some alleged defalcations in government funds, amounting it is said, to $1,000,000.

THREE BLACKS FAMOUS IN THE RING.

New York, N. Y.—Bob Armstrong and George Dyers will in all likelihood accompany Champion Sam Langford if he goes to England to fight Jack Johnson as in now planned. Armstrong is the big heavy-weight who trained Dyers for his July 4 fight. He is a big, rough, rugged fellow, but a pretty clever boxer. Dyers was a star ten years ago when Wolcott, Dobbie and others were at the top. He has been trainer and sparring partner for the "tar baby" for several years.

Langford has two offers to fight Johnson—one in Paris and one in London, and is waiting for the black champion to sign articles.

FIRST WOMAN WIRELESS OPERATOR ON A BOAT. Miss Gaynelle Packer of Jacksonville, Fla.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Miss Gaynelle Packer of this city, a young woman of twenty-two, has gained for herself the distinction of being the first and only woman wireless operator aboard a steamship. She is on the Clyde liner Mohawk, having full charge of the wireless. She has greater things in mind, however, and it is her ambition to handle atmospheric electricity aboard some of the big ocean liners.

Miss Packer has been for two years a telegraph operator at Sanford, Florida, and arrived in New York last June to take lessons in instrumental music. On the way up she became interested in the ship's wireless and this led to her appointment.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

A RUSSIAN woman—Dora Molegari by name—has written a book which I should like to see introduced into our public schools.

Maybe you have read it. It is called "Makers of Joy and Sorrows."

Some big critic says it is "the pragmatic system applied to ethics." I must admit I don't know just what that means, but I do know it is mighty stimulating, thought provoking book that would do everyone good to read.

This is the thesis of the book—that a man's life should not be judged by any elaborate standards of right and wrong, but simply and solely by the criterion of HOW MUCH JOY AND HOW MUCH SORROW HE HAS CAUSED HIS FELLOW MEN.

If that isn't perfectly plain, here are a few quotations that are.

"It is certain that each sin has its consequences, but I firmly believe that in the divine balance the importance of the sin in itself WILL WEIGH LESS THAN THE SUFFERING OF WHICH IT WAS THE CAUSE."

"There are women, outwardly irreproachable, morally correct, capable even of kind acts, who nevertheless cause more sorrow by their vanity and jealousy than openly immoral women, notwithstanding the publicity given to the faults of such, for they are free from vanity and jealousy."

"These three portentious sisters—vanity, envy and jealousy—are real destroyers of happiness and peace."

Certain persons, apparently honorable, will have, in this respect, an appalling account to render. They have prevented and spoiled so much happiness, exhausted so much good will, cast withering doubt on so much affection, and belittled so much talent that, HAD THEY WRUNG THE NECKS OF ONE OR TWO VICTIMS THEY WOULD HAVE BEEN GUILTY OF LESS WRONG."

"The tortures that members of a family inflict upon one another sometimes grow so wearing that the victims of their unhappy manners prefer death to a life of strife and misery."

Despite these black pictures Miss Molegari is an optimist. People are only as bad as all this because they don't think, because they do not analyze themselves and their acts, she says. The crying need of the age is self-analysis. Sometime we will realize this need, and for that day Miss Molegari has these good prophecies:

"The day will come when every sincerely good human being will be as careful not to be the maker of sorrow as not to commit deeds that are dishonest and cruel."

"When we admit that to torment ones neighbors is equivalent to stealing his peace, people will not so easily give way to these irritable, imperious, intolerant and unjust prejudices."

It is a rather startling point of view altogether, isn't it, this standard of the little Russian woman?

But don't you think it's worth thinking about?

Don't you think there are many good people—good by ordinary standards—who might have less admirable accounts to render if they asked themselves honestly each night whether they had been Makers of Joy or Makers of Sorrow that day?

hind one the temptations that come in the most attractive form. It is then that one longs for the opportunity to run away to some safe place. But we know that is the coward's way of resisting temptation and so we stay on the firing line and fight it out.

A great many of the good people of this world are good because they have never been really tempted. They have always been fortunately surrounded, with all the barriers of custom and kindly consideration thrown up between them and the world, and knowing nothing of temptation, they cannot understand the frailties of others. Complacently they condemn those who err, although themselves unfit for judgment.

It is a fool who thinks by force or skill to turn the current of a woman's will.

Some Dishes for Two.

The proportions in ordinary recipes are made for a family of five or six and as the majority of families start with two, the young housewife is often at a loss to know how to divide a recipe.

Cream of Tomato Soup.—Take three-fourths of a cup of stewed and strained tomato, add a speck of soda. Make a binding of one-half a tablespoonful each of flour and butter, cook together and add the tomatoes. Serve at once with salt and pepper to taste. A bit of celery salt or onion juice may be added to change the flavor.

Bread.—Take a fourth of a cup of hot milk, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of lard or butter, one-half a yeast cake dissolved in one-eighth of a cup of water; when the water is cool enough to add the yeast, mix well and add enough flour to knead. Knead until soft and elastic. Put back to rise and when double its bulk make into a loaf. Place in the pan in which it is to be baked, cover closely, and when double its bulk bake in a moderate oven.

Orange Omelet.—Beat the yolks of two eggs until thick and lemon-colored, add the rind of two-thirds of an orange, two tablespoonfuls of orange juice, four teaspoonfuls of powdered sugar. Fold in the beaten whites and pour into a buttered omelet pan. When well cooked on the bottom, set a moment into the oven to finish cooking. Sprinkle with powdered sugar, fold and serve.

Baking Powder Biscuit.—Cut one-half tablespoonful of lard into a half cup of flour sifted with two-thirds of a teaspoonful of baking powder and an eighth of a teaspoonful of salt; add a fourth of a cup of milk, toss and roll on a floured board and cut in small biscuits.

Gingerbread.—Cream one-half tablespoonful of butter, add a tablespoonful of sugar, one-fourth of an egg well beaten, one tablespoonful of molasses, one tablespoonful of sour milk and one-third of a cup of flour sifted with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of ginger, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of cinnamon and an eighth of a teaspoonful of soda. Bake in a slow oven.

FAMOUS DANCER IN NEW CREATIONS.

Ruth St. Denis in her new dance, "Prayer to the Nile Gods."

New York.—Ruth St. Denis, who last year was seen at the Hudson Theatre in Hindu dances, has selected for presentation this season four dances. The first is a dance entitled "Prayer to the Nile Gods." The inspiration for this was derived from the custom of the ancient Egyptians who rendered prayers and gave thanks to the gods for the annual rise of the river Nile. The second dance is called "The Tamboura." It grew out of the custom of the aristocracy to give memorial banquets called "Feasts of Eternity." During these feasts offerings of wine were made, gifts interchanged, music was played and then the dance.

The third dance is called "The Mystery of Isis" and is divided into two parts. First the one given in the outer court of the temple of Isis which illustrates the visit of the king to the goddess in her sanctuary. The second dance occurs in the sanctuary and here is shown the manifestation of Isis as Neth and Hathor. The fourth dance, "The Festival of Ra," is divided into three parts. The first, the Sacred Plains of Ra, with the dance of Ra, typifying the rise and fall of Egypt; the second, the Hall of Double Truth, with the dance of Night, typifying the Trial of the Soul; The third is the golden boat of Ra.

Best Cough Medicine for Children. The season for coughs and colds is now at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Meritol Cough Remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other.

Mrs. J. D. Mulvaney of Decatur, Ga., says: "I have never used anything other than Meritol Cough Remedy for my children and it has always given good satisfaction." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by the Reliable Drug Co., Druggists. Members American Drug & Press Association.

Capable of Intense Heat. The electric furnace is capable of attaining a heat of 2,500 degrees. This is a fearful temperature and will melt almost everything solid known to man. In comparison with this heat, a red-hot iron bar would be called cold.

Practical.

Owing to his extreme youth and timidity Tommy escaped going to church the whole year around, except on Christmas day. After one of his annual visits his uncle asked him at the dinner table if he had been a good boy and said a prayer in church.

"Oh, yes, indeed," answered Tommy. "I said a prayer like all the rest did just before the sermon began. Want to hear it?"

"Yes, indeed. What did you say?" replied the surprised uncle.

"Now I lay me down to sleep!" said Tommy.

Catherine Barker the youthful heiress who heads plant worth $6,000,000.

Chicago, Ill.—Catherine Barker, the 11-year-old daughter of the late John H. Barker of Michigan City, Ind., was formally notified that she was the owner of one of the largest manufacturing plants in the world and that she ranks with the Krupp sisters as the actual owner of a gigantic plant.

The will of Mr. Barker, who was owner of the Haskell-Barker Manufacturing Company was read to his relatives. Although it was admitted that the daughter of the millionaire had been given the factory and that all detailed information concerning the other bequests of Mr. Barker was refused. The estate totals $6,000,000.

"There is nothing of importance for the public in the will" was the only answer given out at the Barker home. "The will is to be filed for probate later. At the present time there is nothing to say."

It is expected that the will provides for the appointment of a number of trustees who will care for the management of the factory—the largest of its kind in the world—until Miss Barker completes her education. Then the young woman is expected to take personal charge of all her affairs and carry out her father's plans and policies in person.

For the past year, the girl has been at home with her father, who took the death of his wife, a little over a year ago, much to heart. Before that time she had attended a private school in Detroit. It is expected that she will return there after her father's funeral to complete her education, which for the past year has been under the care of private tutors.

Miss Barker, despite the fact that she has been an heiress to millions for years, is noted for her youthful democracy and numbers among her closest friends many of the younger children of Michigan City, whose parents do not possess as many cents as her father did dollars.

you never have been where the fighting has been very severe. Somehow there has always been some sort of a barrier between you and real danger from temptation. You haven't realized it because no one has really ever forced the fact home to you.

Have you ever considered that each person is a peculiar combination of desires, longings and aspirations? Have you ever thought that what may be safely done by one person may not be thought of by another?

To each of us has come the inheritance of the ages, and with that inheritance has come both weakness and strength. We know now that it is a peculiar cry to say that we "can't help" it—certainly, peculiarity or habit because it was born in us. We also know that when we undertake to rely on that cry we are betrayed, and that at each surrender to it we are made weaker, and for every victory over it we are that much stronger. Because of the winning fight we put up we are that much better to ourselves and to the world.

The heroic men and women of the world are they who are on the firing line and who resist temptation. Sometimes it takes almost superhuman courage and patience, it calls for a high quality of endurance, to put back one the temptations that come in the most attractive form. It is then that one longs for the opportunity to run away to some safe place. But we know that is the coward's way of resisting temptation and so we stay on the firing line and fight it out.

A great many of the good people of this world are good because they have never been really tempted. A goat eats only one-eighth as much as a cow, but gives more than that proportion of milk.

Definition of Music.

Music is a kind of inarticulate unfathomable speech, which leads us to the edge of the infinite, and lets us for a moment gaze into that—Carlyle.

What Goats Eat.

A goat eats only one-eighth as much as a cow, but gives more than that proportion of milk.

THE FIRING LINE.

You are out on the "firing line of the world." You know what it is to be tempted, how easy it is to give in to the calls of temptation. You have seen people fall all around you because they allowed the white flag to go up when they should have still insisted upon holding up the "no surrender" sign.

You have seen people fall when you thought the very embodiment of courage and fidelity and you have sometimes wondered if it were possible for any one to "run straight."

Then you have looked at yourself and said, "Well, yes, I guess I do. Haven't I always managed to do it. Haven't I always come out as many temptations have come to me as any one. Those who fall are naturally weak."

Yet you know this reasoning isn't right any more than your intolerance of weakness is right. You know that you have never been tempted—really tempted, like these others. You've been a pretty good soldier, but really

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Dec. 10, 1870.—The War, Siege of Paris, 18th Day, Bordeaux, Dec. 18.—The Prussians are leaving the valley of the Loire. They again attacked Chaussey but were repulsed. Nearly a thousand Kabyl horsemen landed at Toulon and will join the French armies. The Moslems who went to Algeria to replace the regular troops, will return and a portion of the National Guards will go to Algeria.

Jottings.—A terrible dog fight came off on Water street yesterday. The line of combat extended from the jail to the corner of Main and South First streets. A large crowd of men viewed the dogs themselves. At one time there was a probability that the humans would inaugurate a similar entertainment for the benefit of the dogs.

Asking Too Much.
"Nobody should be allowed to purchase anything from a pharmacist without a physician's prescription," said the cautious citizen. "Nonsense," replied the druggist. "You couldn't expect even a doctor to know the correct Latin for soda water and chewing gum."

World's Rice-Growing Country.
Japan grows about 40 times as much rice as is produced in the United States. Over seven per cent. of the land in the Japanese islands is used for the rice crop. In this country the proportion is one acre out of 2,000.

The legislative committee which visited the institution for the blind, on Saturday last, found everything in a satisfactory condition and expressed themselves in favor of allowing the desired appropriation for current expenses, amounting to $18,000.
The annual meeting of the Rock County Agricultural Society for the election of officers for the ensuing year, will be held on Saturday of this week at the court room.

Mr. G. Weaver of Clinton, shipped a cow to Chicago last week which weighed 1,480.
Extensive preparations are being made by the members of the First M. E. S. for the entertainment to be given at Laphin's hall, Christmas Eve. Tableaux, colloquies, and many other interesting exercises will compose the program and an old fashioned Christmas will conclude the entertainment.

A Hard-Luck Story.
"Pottiness always pays," "I don't know about that," replied Mr. Hunting Work. "I had a pretty good position as a bill collector. But I made myself so agreeable that people held out on payments for fear I'd stop calling on them."

To Take Ink Stains From Ivory.
A piece of priceless old ivory became badly stained with ink. I tried vainly to remove this until with fear and trembling I used my cream silver polish. This proved precisely the right thing and improved the luster of the ivory.—Good Housekeeping.

SEVEN-MILLION DOLLAR MANSION RE-OPENED BY SCHWAB.
Magnificent Riverside Drive home of Charles M. Schwab and a recent picture of the steel magnate.

New York, N. Y.—After abandoning his $7,000,000 mansion "On the Hudson," on Riverside Drive, for two years, Charles M. Schwab, the steel magnate, has reopened his home, with a view to entertaining on a lavish scale. In November, 1908, Mr. Schwab decided the maintenance of so expensive a household was too much of a burden. The upkeep of the estate, then he has been living quietly at the $7,000,000 mansion is one of the Bethlehem, where his duties as president show places in New York city.

"About me?" Loveland repeated, puzzled and vaguely uncomfortable.

"Yes, there's an idea of mine I want to talk to you about, and he says you'll blot it to the others. But I say you won't if you promise you won't. That's so, isn't it?"

"Of course," answered Loveland.

"I know you're a great friend of Lillie's," the lady said, looking again at him.

"Yes, she's a very dear friend of mine," Loveland answered.

"I know you're a great friend of Lillie's," the lady said, looking again at him.

"Yes, she's a very dear friend of mine," Loveland answered.

After all, salaries were not paid that night. "J. J." informed the expectant members of the company that business hadn't "run to it." They must wait for their money till next week. Nonetheless was a bigger place than Asheville, and there was every prospect of better things for the future.

Sunday morning Jacobus, Miss Moon and the two Deekes did not appear at breakfast time.

"I can't believe they're really gone and left us like this," pleaded the little star, wide-eyed and pale, though unnaturally composed.

With incredible stealth and cunning the manager and his family had slipped away in the night, leaving nothing behind them but a stranded, broken and penniless company.

A Stunning Surprise.

Congressman George W. Taylor was talking in Demopolis, Ala., about the hard times.

"Hard times are bound to be full of unpleasant shocks and stunning surprises," he said. "I remember the last time I was in a predicament, a Mobile passenger, and a sermon that a Mobile passenger preached."

"The pastor, in a powerful discourse, urged economy and retrenchment on his congregation. In view of the hard times there should be no extravagance, no useless expenditure, he said, but every outgo ought to be pared down."

"His strong sermon had a swift and unexpected effect. The congregation, before dispersing, held a church meeting and unanimously reduced the man's salary from $2,000 to $1,500."

Playing Before the King Exclusively.

A "command" to play before the king is always appreciated by actors, but the honor of taking a company to Windsor or Sandringham is an expensive one, says the Dundee Advertiser. First-class railway tickets are provided by his majesty's secretary, but everything else has to be paid by the manager. These expenses include special scenery to suit the improvised stage, the carriage of properties and dresses and the cab fares for the members of the company, who always arrive in London at an unearthly hour, when "growlers" are low and far between. Sir John Hare's recent appearance before the king cost him about $1,000.

Ship Narrowly Escaped Meteorite.

The Hull trawler, which recently recorded that during its voyage in the North sea a meteor fell a few yards away from the vessel, shaking it from stem to stern and rendering its compass useless, was not the first vessel to have narrowly escaped disaster by the fall of a meteorite.

The African Prince of the Prince Line was nearly engulfed in the Atlantic from a similar cause in October, 1906, and the captain on reaching Liverpool gave an interesting account of the escape. He and the second officer were on the bridge when the ball fell from the blue and it seemed to them as it entered the water close to the ship, to be a huge mass of molten metal poured out of the sky. "Had it struck us," said Capt. Anderson, "we would have been totally annihilated without a doubt—another mysterious loss of a vessel in every way fitted to undertake a voyage."

"I am of opinion," he added, "that to some such cause must be attributed losses so mysterious that neither seamanship, engineering nor ordinary theories can explain them."—London Daily News.

Largest Concrete Bridge.

The largest concrete bridge in the world, a huge structure which has attracted world-wide attention among engineers, is just nearing completion at Washington. Connecting Connecticut boulevard, one of Washington's most fashionable drives, over Rock Creek valley, this wonderful bridge is already regarded as a celebrated example of the utility of concrete.

Constructed of molded concrete blocks and monolithic concrete masonry, it is dependent upon itself for support, having no steel framing for reinforcement, says Popular Mechanics. At its highest point the bridge is 150 feet above the bed of the ravine, and its total length, with approaches, 1,340 feet. Congress appropriated $850,000 for construction of the bridge proper.

WHO WILL SUCCEED SENATOR DEPEW FROM NEW YORK?

Three Men Who Have Been Prominently Mentioned.

New York, N. Y.—Who will be the new democratic senator from New York?

In the last few years just one dozen men have been sent to the federal senate by the democratic party of the Empire state.

The names most conspicuously mentioned at this time are those of four men of national reputation as lawyers—Edward M. Shepard, William D. Horblower, Francis Lynde Stetson and William F. Sheehan. Well known too, throughout the country is the name of Norman E. Mack, chairman of the democratic national committee, who would not shrink the honor should it come his way, while three other men in a receptive mood are Judge D. Cady Herick, defeated for governor in 1904; John D. Kernan, son of Francis Kernan, and Daniel F. Cohalan, a very able, straight-out-and-out Tammany man, the supreme legal adviser of that organization and often the political adviser of Charles F. Murphy.

The fight for the control of the democratic majority at Albany will be bitterly contested.

Handy Shoe Horn.

A shoe horn that folds together longitudinally, combined with a buttonhook hinged to close inside it when not in use, has been patented by a Connecticut man to economize space.

Wicked New York.

"The police dogs are humped," reads a heading in the New York World. Well, that's something. But it must be remembered that those dogs are new to New York yet. Wait.

Tells How to Make a Pint of Laxative Cough Syrup

Very Cheaply at Home.

The reason that most all cough syrups are ineffective, is that the ordinary preparations are very emollient and after a while they aggravate the congestion and bring on fever and pneumonia. To avoid pneumonia the bowels should be laxative and the cough will soon be overcome.

The finest acting, most pleasant tasting and laxative cough syrup can be made at home by anyone. Obtain from a well stocked drugist 2 1/2 ounces of essence of menthol-lavender, empty it into a pint bottle. Make a syrup with a pint of granulated sugar and a half pint boiling water; stir and let cool. Then fill up the bottle with syrup. Shake it well and take a teaspoonful every hour or two until the cough is cured. This is the quickest acting and sweetest cough remedy ever conceived. All wholesale druggists and most retail druggists sell essence menthol-lavender.

ADDRESSED CONVENTION OF GOVERNORS—LAURA CLAY OF LEXINGTON, KY.

New York—The raid by the police on a ban der Indian in an East side tenement and the rescue of Giuseppe Longo, who disappeared from Brooklyn November 18, brings to an end one of the boldest kidnapping cases with which the police department ever had to deal. Young Longo had been held since November 18, for a ransom of $15,000.

With revolver and clubs in their hands seven policemen from Detective headquarters went into a five-story tenement yesterday afternoon, and after breaking a door and beating several of the tenants rescued Giuseppe Longo, eight years old, who was kidnapped from his home in Brooklyn November 18, and has since been held for a ransom of $15,000.

The police took nine prisoners, two of them women. All of the prisoners except the women were armed. From young Longo and several of the captives the police learned that Michael Rizzo, eight years old, who was also kidnapped from his home in Brooklyn the same day that a man lured Longo away, and had been kept a prisoner in the tenement building in Sixty-third street from the day of his capture till last Saturday. Longo could not, and men would not, tell where Rizzo is now. The boy's parents think he is dead.

Neither they nor the parents of Longo paid the money that was demanded for the safe return of the boys. Several letters written to the parents by the kidnapers said that unless this money were paid the heads of the boys would be sent to their homes and their bodies thrown into the bay. Discovery of the place where Longo was imprisoned was made by chance. Since the day he and Rizzo disappeared policemen trained in Black Hand and kidnapping cases have searched for them in vain. William J. Flynn, second deputy police commissioner, received an anonymous letter which gave the clue for which the police had searched since November 18. The letter was short but sufficient. It said that two boys had been kidnapped from Brooklyn, had been taken to the tenement at No. 330, East Sixty-third street, and might still be there. The police, in following up the tip, raided the tenement and found the missing eight year old Longo boy.

For British Warships.

The British admiralty has instructed the commanders of all ships of war furnished with wireless telegraph apparatus to telegraph to meteorological stations with which they may be in communication full details concerning the weather at sea. This new branch of the English meteorological service has already proved valuable, and it is believed that its importance will continue to increase. Weather information from the sea is of special value in the British Isles because the great storms generally approach across the ocean, and not, as in the eastern half of the United States, across a broad continent netted with telegraph.—Youth's Companion.

After Emerson.

"That wealthy young broker has given his motor to a well-known actress." "Yes, he says his father taught him to hitch his wagon to a star."—Life.

Had a Thought Coming.

Frau Blo was awarded by the arbitration court $3,750 for the loss of her husband through an accident on board of a ship. Not long afterward on the same ship a stoker met with an accident which cost him a leg, and the same court awarded him $5,000. Indignant Frau Blo went to the court to complain because a man who only lost a leg got so much more than she was allowed for the loss of a husband. The judge, a bland and wily old gentleman, said: "My dear lady, that poor stoker can hardly buy a new leg with $5,000. Now, a good looking woman like you with $3,750 can easily get a new husband, younger and perhaps more loving than your late husband." The widow wiped her eyes and smiled. She had not thought of that.

A Sensitive Ear.

The poet, Malherbe, the founder of the purity of the French language, was very sensitive on the score of diction. When, during his last moments, his confessor, by way of encouraging him, began to enlarge on the joys of paradise, "Stop," cried Malherbe. "Your ungrammatical style is giving me a distaste for them!"

Primitive Paper-Making.

In Madagascar a kind of writing paper used by some of the native notables and the fetish priests is made from the bark of a shrub named babova. The bark fiber is boiled and macerated until a thin paste is obtained. Then a leaf of the plant called ravinia, or traveler's tea, is coated with pulp, formed from a particular kind of rice, and over this is spread the babova paste, on both sides of the leaf. After the coating has thoroughly dried and adhered, it is polished with a smooth shell, and the paper is ready for use in writing. The manufacture of the ink employed, like that of the paper itself, is a monopoly of the notables and priests who use it. This paper may be bought by travelers at about a cent and a half per sheet, but only a few hundred sheets are produced in a month.

An Omission.

Nervous and inexperienced float (rising hurriedly at the conclusion of a song)—"Ladies and gentlemen, before he started to—er—sing, Mr. Bawnall asked me to apologize for his—er—voice, but I—er—omitted to do so—er—so I—er—apologize now!"

To Stop Cough in Church.

Every woman has experienced the mortification of one of those exasperating, hacking little coughs which tickle the throat and seem to grow worse the more one tries to overcome them.

They always come upon one just at a time when the badly cough drop has been left at home and it is impossible to procure the saving slip of water.

Many a woman has hastily left her seat in a church with a red face and the echo of a hacking little cough following her down the aisle and into the vestibule, when the trouble might have been conquered in a very simple way.

A cough drop is not at all essential to the stopping of a tickling cough.

A bit of paper, torn from the corner of a hymn book leaf or an available pamphlet or leaflet, will answer quite as well as the bit of hound or Georice, for the action of the throat muscles in mustering the bit of paper and the consequent flow of saliva soon cures the cough, and by the time the paper is reduced to a pulp the cough will have ceased, and one's nervousness will be entirely gone.

Was Too Modest.

James K. Hackett, the actor, said at a luncheon in Pittsburg: "An actor should be modest, and most actors are. But I know a young actor who, at the beginning of his career, carried modesty almost too far. This young man inserted in all the dramatic papers a want advertisement that read: 'Engagement wanted—Small art, such as dead body or outside shouts, preferred.'—Argonaut.
